This artist during his whole life only painted about eighty pictures. After his death his designs and unfinished studies were sold at the Hotel Drouot, in Paris; and, although numbering but fifty-six, they brought 321,034 francs. Another small collection of designs were sold just after, and brought 431,050 francs.

This most important work is valued at $8500, but this artist's fine examples are so rare and expensive that it is difficult to say how much it is really worth.

This picture is from the Forbes collection of London, one of the great private collections of Europe. It has also been owned by Messieurs E. Boussod and Sarlin, of Paris. It is guaranteed by Messieurs Georges Petit and I. Montaignac, of Paris, and a letter signed by them and endorsed by Mr. Charles F.
